

A Beautiful Saturday at Park Hayarkon

Park Hayarkon in Tel-Aviv North , the Israeli equivalent if not in total area of New York's Central Park was all a buzz today. Blue skies, warm sunshine, calm breeze 20+ Celsius what more to ask for...

Israelis (or rather Tel-Avivians) were out to soak the sun:

Young...

Old...

Families...

Father - Son...

Dogs...

Picnic time...

On the Yarkon...

and your mother too...

... and in all the excitement this is what I left on a park bench that made someone's day a profitable one:
